Allan,

Well, this year is almost over for us Seniors, but it has been a wonderful year. I can always think of the crazy things that have happened to us and crack up.

I want you to know that I wish you and Sarah the best of happiness in the future. When that special day comes I know it will remain with me always. Sarah will make you very happy and though it will be a struggle to make ends meet everything will work out. When two people really love each other things will turn out fine. If I can help you two in any way, just call and I'll come. God Bless both of you. I love you both.

Love,
Zalli

Alan,
You are a great boy with a wonderful personality. I have really missed you. I want to wish you and Sarah all the luck in the world.
Be good and may God bless you always,
Becky Jackson

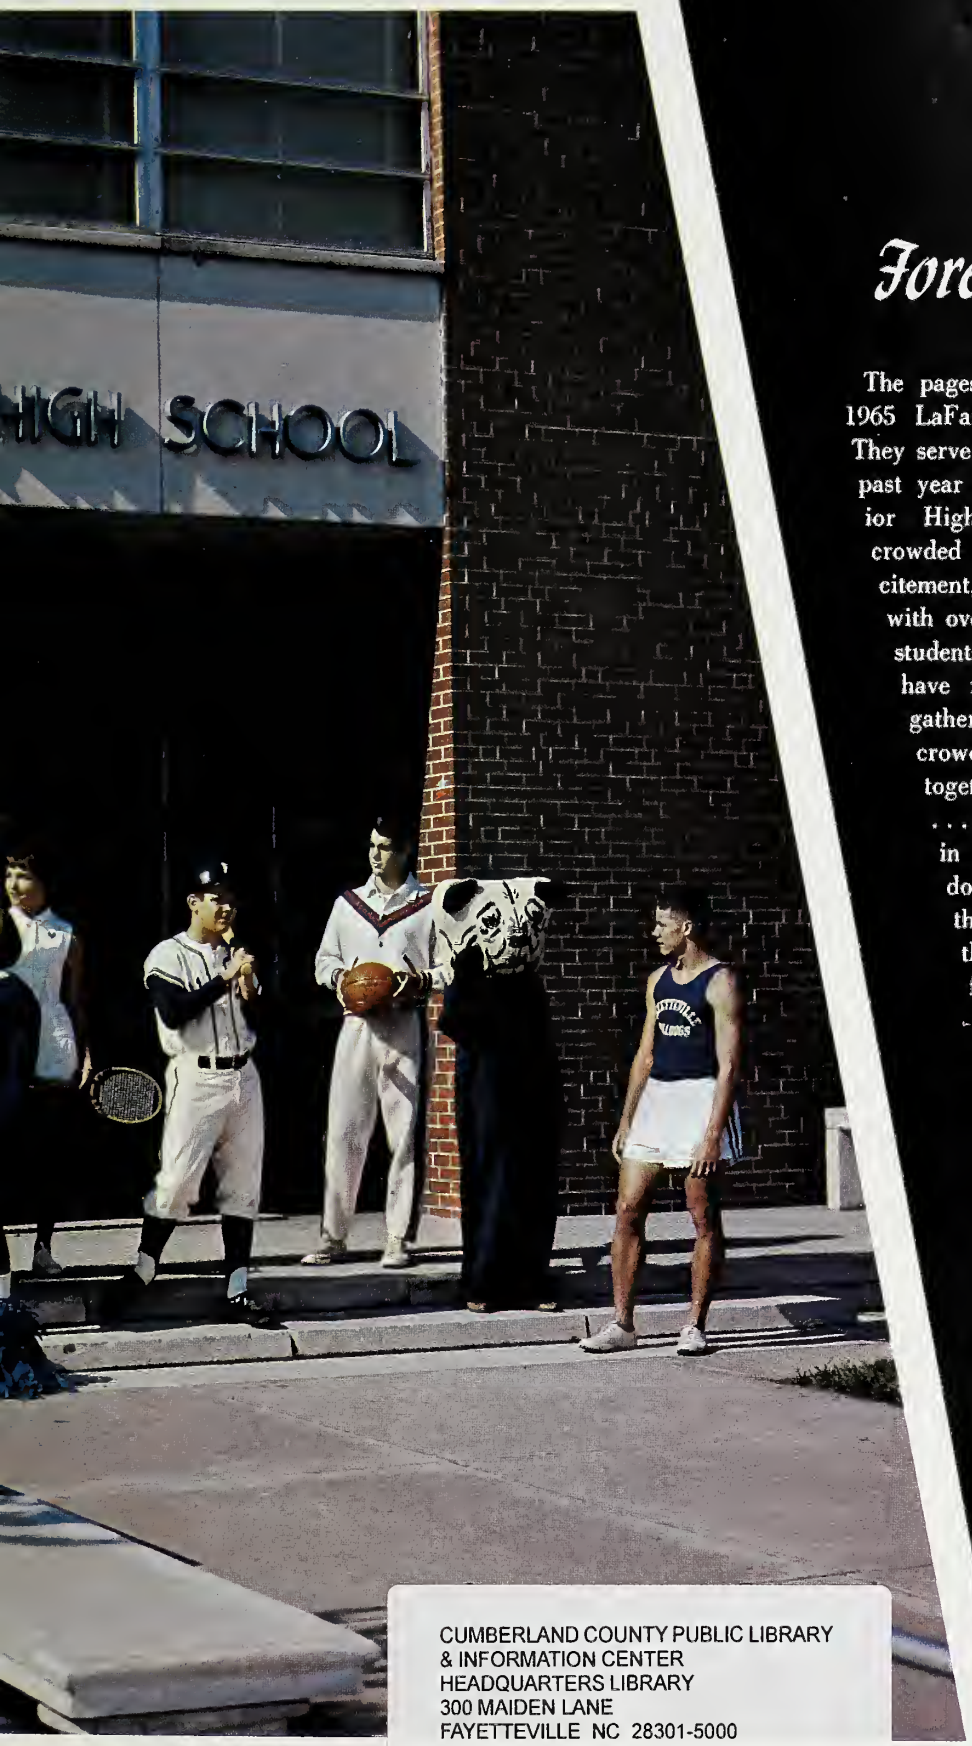
FAYETTEVILLE SENIO



Foreword

The pages within this, the 1965 LaFamac, tell a story. They serve as a history of the past year at Fayetteville Senior High School — a year crowded with action and excitement, a school crowded with over 1900 endlessly busy students. It is here that we have found the moments to gather together in clusters and crowds . . . the minutes to plan together projects and parties . . . the hours to spend together in a special class where we do not count the minutes . . . the season to thrill together to the thunder of our band on the football field . . . a year to share together in work and play, joy and tears, victory and defeat . . . a year in which we have learned . . .

To Admire . . .

One Outstanding

Leader

A teacher who has shown us how to use Time wholly, not selectively; wisely, not carelessly. For over a decade he has been an exemplary model to his teams and classes, and his magnetic personality has aroused our enthusiasm for our school. For his well-rounded use of Time, we, the Senior Class of 1965, do dedicate this LaFamac to

Our Time

During this year, we have, as sophomores, learned to adjust; as juniors, gained prestige; and as seniors, looked back thoughtfully and gazed ahead hopefully.

Together

We, the 1965 LaFamac Staff, hope that you have found time this year to enrich your lives by joining in the many activities afforded you, and that you have made 1965 at Fayetteville Senior High Schol the time and place for everything.

Dear Alan (My favorite checkout)

I really feel I've known you the longest of all this year's seniors, since you and Ellen have been friends since dear old AGHS. It'll be real sad for me to see you leave this year. I hope you stay with Colonial so our shopping trips will be brightened up by your smiling face! Please study hard & make good grades next year as you can when you try. I guess you're one of the few I'd say this to but don't get settled down too soon. Have a little fun first life gets serious enough soon enough anyway & you deserve a lot of happiness. You're the kind of person whose thoughtfulness and cheerfulness make those around you feel better just being with you. So stay just like you are but be good to yourself too. Good luck always, & God bless you.

Mrs. S.

School Board Meets Local Needs

Noted for their high scholastic achievements, the Fayetteville schools are among the top schools in North Carolina. Fayetteville is able to maintain its high standards because of the unselfish dedication of the members of the school board who serve without pay. On them falls the responsibility of governing the Fayetteville school system. This policy-making body is the deciding factor in the approval of curriculums, the employment of more personnel, and the choosing of new school sites for Fayetteville's constantly expanding educational program. They must be capable of recognizing needs and making decisions that keep our schools in competition with the best.

Mr. C. Reid Ross Is Superintendent

Just as the success of the country depends largely upon the quality and ideals of its leader, the effectiveness of a school system hinges on the caliber of its superintendent. We, at Fayetteville Senior High School, credit the smooth organization of our city's system to Mr. C. Reid Ross.

Since 1951, when Mr. Ross came to Fayetteville to assume his role as superintendent, he has made numerous friends here. Among these are the students of F.H.S. Mr. Ross has many times interrupted his busy schedule to attend F.H.S. assemblies, awards programs, and graduations. We are grateful to Mr. Ross both for the fine job he is doing for our school system and for the needed encouragement he is always willing to offer to F.H.S.

Mr. Sasser Heads School

To preserve achievements and experiences is important, but more significant is the wise and profitable use of the priceless asset—time. The great Rousseau once said. "All that time is lost which might be better employed."—Students often find the present painful as a time for learning respect for authority, for mastery of fundamental facts, for the development of high and noble ideals, and for the building of the traits of character and citizenship. How better can one spend the days of his youth!

Students often recall the past as too rapid in flight and the future as too slow in coming! More effort should be spent in using the brief present to the end that the future may be rich and full and rewarding!

This annual is destined to be great in time because of the diligence of its sponsor and staff who have captured the thrills of honors and activities of those who now call themselves students.

Secretaries Indispensable to School

MRS. MIRIAM CARTER

Collecting all student fees and handling the funds of all the organizations at F.H.S. is only a small part of Mrs. Carter's job as school treasurer. She keeps an accurate record of all bills and transacts many of the business matters of the school.

MRS. ANNE WILKINS

A school as large as F.H.S. could never function without the services of its registrar, Mrs. Wilkins. She works closely with each new student, acquainting him with class and lunch schedules, library privileges, and various school services, as well as handling all student information folders.

MRS. SARA BULLARD

There is never a time when someone, faculty or student, is not seeking the services of Mrs. Bullard. Indispensable as clinic secretary, Mrs. Bullard always finds the time, after checking the attendance cards of fifty-five homerooms, to call and inquire about those students who are ill.

MRS. ANNETTE McELWEE

Constantly busy on the telephone, typing letters, or taking dictation, Mrs. McElwee efficiently carries out many of the school's business matters. She is Mr. Sasser's personal secretary and is always ready to aid him in his work.

Deans Advise, Admonish, Administer

Mr. Percy A. Warren
and
Miss Marie Moore

Being a dean requires many divers qualities: patience, understanding, a sense of humor, and above all, a strong and never-faltering will. It is, perhaps, the most difficult job to do well and still retain the confidence of an impressionable high school student. A dean is compensated only with the knowledge and hope that he has shown some student a better and wiser alternative.

Our competent deans, Miss Marie Moore and Mr. Percy Warren, perform a wide variety of duties. During the school day one can walk by the deans' office and see them in conference with teachers, parents, and students concerning such problems as discipline, school policy, and attendance. They help students untangle their problems and learn to fit more smoothly into life at F.H.S. Miss Moore is guardian of the attendance reports, while Mr. Warren serves as mentor of the seventh period detention hall.

Fine Arts Encourages Creativity

Those who study fine arts at Fayetteville Senior High School have a unique opportunity—an opportunity to look into the myriad, changing world of art, music, and drama. They see, as they learn, something of the wonder and vastness of man's ability to create beauty. And, of perhaps greater significance, they realize the creative potential of their own mind.

F.H.S. English Program Prepares for College Work

Although English is a basic course of study necessary to the curriculum of all students at F.H.S., the department of English strives to accomplish more than fundamental study. It seeks to help the student to be proficient in using his language, to show him the forms it has assumed in its evolution, and to help him to learn to express his thoughts with words.

The three year English program is aimed at preparing students for college work. Sophomores study basic grammar and writing skills and learn appreciation of various literary forms. The junior year program stresses vocabulary study, composition, and acquaintance with American literature. Seniors review grammar, write many themes, and make extensive study in English literature. As the culmination of the three year study, a term paper is required of all seniors for graduation.

Elective courses are offered to persons wishing to specialize in journalism or speech. Journalism classes learn accurate reporting and practical application of writing talent by publishing a monthly newspaper, THE BULLDOG.

Mathematics Program Is Comprehensive

Graps. ellipses, sums, digits, points, probability! These arthe epithets that fill the vocabulary of the math student. His tools are the compass, the protractor, and the slide rule. His habitat is the world of science and imaginatio, and his goal is the stars.

The mathematics department at F.H.S. offers something foreveryone. Practical general math courses are provided to prepare the student to deal successfully with problems in everyday life. A full three year program of geometry, algebra, and trigonometry is available to the prospective college student. For the more diligent scholar, programmed learning courses allow work at a more accelerated speed.

Science Developes Ingenuity

Whether he is dissecting a frog, making iodine crystals, or determining the coefficient of friction, the science student at Fayetteville Senior High is encouraged to think on his own. This personal ingenuity is stressed in daily study, as well as in the preparation of labs and the planning of special projects.

Two years of science, including one year of biology, are required for graduation. One may also choose courses in chemistry, advanced biology, and physics.

D.E. Students Receive Practical Training

Distributive Education trains the students of today for positions as business leaders of tomorrow. Instruction is given in selling, merchandising, advertising, buying, display, managerial duties, personnel work, and merchandising mathematics. Then, students have an opportunity to apply what they have learned to a job with a business firm. Dividing his time between his academic classes and his job, the student receives credit for his at-school classes in addition to two or three credits for the D.E. program. In this way the future business man or woman can train during high school and be prepared sooner to begin his career in the world of business.

History Acquaints the Student

Through an extensive study of the people and events which change his world, the social studies department helps the student to understand himself and those with whom he lives. Such courses as geography, government, economics, sociology, and United States and world history provide a working knowledge of events—past and present—which may be used as building blocks of the future.

In addition to regular classes conducted by classroom teachers, there are a number of TV history classes. F.H.S. is one of more than 100 high schools involved in this program. The classroom teacher supplements the televised course by conducting class discussion and keeping in contact with the TV instructor.

Main Objective

Training the future secretary, accountant, and bookkeeper for responsible positions in business is the task of the business education department. In addition to a typing program, which is of use to all students, there are specialized courses in shorthand, business arithmetic, business information, and office practice for those planning commercial careers. A new subject, commercial economics and business law, has been added this year.

A special Vocational Office Training program is available each year to some twenty seniors who meet the requirements: completion of a one year typing course and favorable recommendation from his teachers. These students are interviewed for jobs during the summer and begin working an average of ten hours per week in the fall. During the morning, the student attends academic classes and receives job-related training. In the afternoon, he works with a business firm for pay. Through this program, the student not only receives valuable on-the-job experience but also one unit of credit.

Physical Education Builds Fitness

In keeping with the recent stress on physical fitness, all sophomores and juniors are required to participate in an active program of athletic development during the school year. This activity adds to their knowledge of the sports in which they participate and also gives them needed stamina for other school activities.

The boys, under the direction of Coach "Buddy" Luper and five assistants, are led through such sports as football, baseball, basketball, track, golf, and tennis. The most interested and qualified boys may participate in an advanced physical education program. These boys play on the various school athletic teams.

Activities in the girls' physical education department include softball, golf, basketball, tennis, archery, volleyball, and ping pong. Those girls who desire may participate in intramural contests and may also join the G.A.A. In this organization they further develop their skills in various sports and often go bowling, an activity not offered during a regular class.

New, Old, Overdue Books Concern Staff

The library is a haven—a haven for those who want to study or search for knowledge; a haven for those who want to enjoy a trip into space, ride a horse, or search for adventure by reading a book.

The library is an essential part of any school, and F.H.S. is proud to have one of the best. With the addition this year of almost 7,000 books, the library can boast a total of approximately 14,800 books. It has a complete magazine section with periodicals dating back for five years. Equipped with a large supply of reference books, the library helps students with such problems as term papers. Plans are now being made to add recreational music facilities in the near future.

Our guidance department works individually with students in planning schedules, giving vocational and college entrance advice, and providing scholarship information. As a result of the efficient efforts of the department, sixty per cent of F.H.S. graduates enroll in college. Members of the staff have become friends to the students, giving advice on personal problems and helping them to make the most of their education. Without this guidance, many students would be lost in planning for the future.

F.H.S. Celebrates

1964 Homecoming

"All right, you people, get those cars on the road! Let's move it!" With these formidable words, Mr. Warren signaled the start of the traditional cavalcade preceding the Homecoming football game at FHS on Friday, November 6. Brightly decorated cars, often representing various clubs and organizations, swiftly formed the cavalcade which made its way through the town.

The night of November 6 brought throngs of excited students and former alumni to witness the battle between the Raleigh Caps and the Fayetteville Bulldogs. The crowd quickly filled the stadium and were soon cheering their team to victory. By half-time, Fayetteville was ahead 14 to 13.

Now the long awaited half-time activities began. The FHS band marched smartly onto the field, playing "March of the Olympians," and then formed an American Beauty Rose in which the Homecoming Queen would be crowned. Twenty-two sponsors, representing the senior members of the football team, took their places on the field, and tension climbed to a peak as the queen was named. Before an exuberant crowd of spectators, Miss Janice Owenby was crowned Queen of Homecoming by last year's queen, Miss Pam Zollars. Majorettes then performed with fire batons and the Scottish Dancers danced in the queen's honor.

Fayetteville went on to defeat the Caps by a score of 33 to 20. Their victory was the perfect complement to another wonderful Homecoming for Fayetteville Senior High School.

"Fayetteville will shine tonight" seemed an appropriate way to describe the night of the Homecoming bonfire, which was held November 5, the night before the Bulldogs played Raleigh. Lighting the faces of many happy FHS students, the glow from the fire inspired the traditional spirit and extra excitement that always accompanies Homecoming. With the help of the band, the cheerleaders led the crowd in victory songs and in a final gesture of triumph, threw a Raleigh "Cap" into the fire.

Miss F.H.S. of 1965

Miss Carolyn Boisky

Contestants in the Miss FHS Contest await the moment when their numbers will be called and they will walk out onto the stage before the judges.

The applause died down, the lights went out, a piano sounded softly in the background, and the announcer took his place behind the rostrum. "Contestant number one, sponsored by . . .", and thus the 1964 Miss FHS Contest began. One by one, each of the 286 contestants, smiling radiantly and holding their heads high, walked onto a brightly decorated stage. "MISS FHS", spelled out in gold letters on the curtains, suggested the regal accent of the decorations. Shining crystalline chandeliers illuminated a queenly throne, outlined in gold and resting on a platform surrounded by tall green palms.

This annual event is sponsored by the Junior Class in order to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom. Aided by Miss Christine Cherry and Mrs. Wilma Godwin, the juniors worked successfully on all phases of the contest: soliciting for ads, appointing judges, selecting entertainment, and decorating the stage.

Sadie Hawkins Arrives

"Fourteen girls have asked me already," bragged one blond-headed FHS senior. "This is the night I've been waiting for," said another boy. "I plan to get taken to the swankiest restaurant in town and order everything from caviar to baked alaska." Certainly all the boys wait eagerly for the Sadie Hawkins' Dance each year. On this night the gals grab their favorite guys and take them out for a night on the town. Before the dance the local restaurants roll out their red carpets for the Daisy Maes and Li'l Abners. The decorations at the dance complete the atmosphere of Dogpatch, U.S.A., with cornstalks, candle-dripped bottles, a pot-bellied stove, and even a homemade outhouse. Marryin' Sam is present to marry those younguns who want to get hitched.

Magic Moments

The Junior-Senior Prom

Beneath graceful boughs of moss atop pink crepe-paper trees, couples danced away the night of the 1964 Junior-Senior Prom, which was held in the Student Union Building of Methodist College. Blue and red streamers over white picket fences formed the bandstand in which J. Turbeville and his band performed. Midway in the dance, officers of the Student Council, members of the Steering Committee and their dates formed the figure, a wishing well, which carried out the theme of "Magic Moments." Finally a beaming Alan Pittman and Jeanne McLeod were crowned king and queen of the Prom, and ascended a swinging throne bedecked in flowers and ivy.

Susan Hill, Skipper Oliver, Rob Powell, Beverly Giles, Wendell Williams, and Pat Hurdle pause to enjoy the decorations of miniature wishing wells.

Monuments are built as remembrances to deserving persons. After three years of working together, the senior class honors those classmates who exemplify learning, citizenship, promises to succeed, and other admirable qualities such as personality and beauty. These outstanding seniors are selected by popular vote of the graduating class, the most qualified judges. The LaFamac builds monuments to recognize the 1965 Senior Favorites.

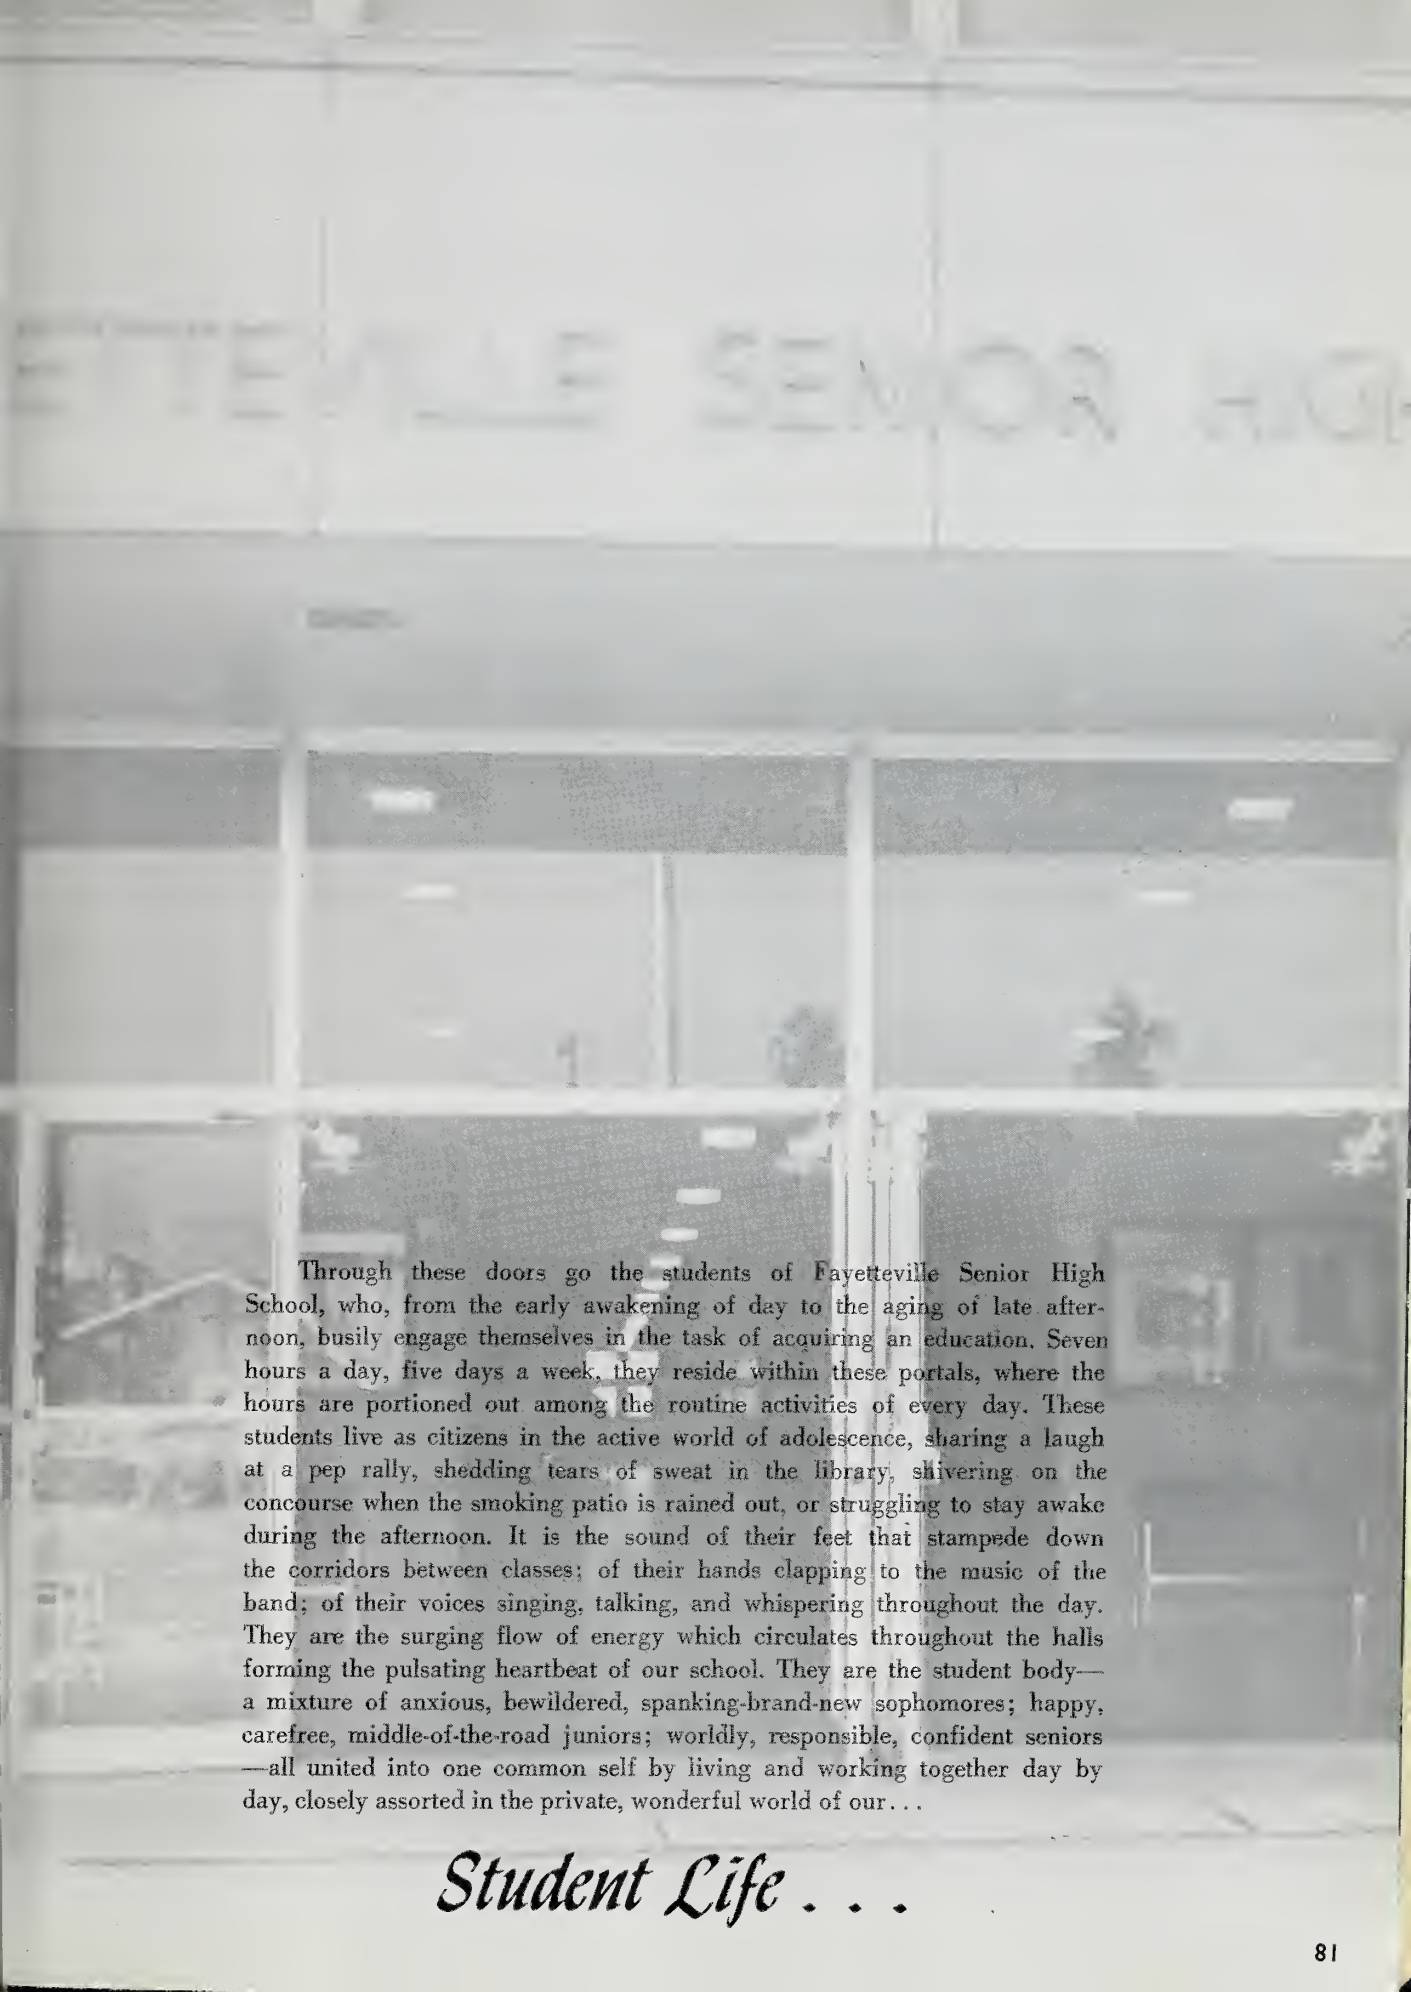
1965 Marshals

In February of each year, fifteen outstanding juniors are chosen by popular vote of the Senior class to serve as Marshals. These honored students must have an 80 average or better in their schoolwork and excel in leadership, character, and merit. They serve as ushers at various school functions including the Miss FHS Contest, the senior class play, Awards Night, and graduation. The 1965 Marshals are as follows, from left to right standing: Larry Snider, Bo Massingale, Michael Knight, Vann Williford, Suzanne McLeod—Assistant Chief, Bruce Moore—Chief Marshal, Bob Tally, Gary Henschen and Terry Lindvall; seated, Jane Johnston, Martha Wooten, Cynthia Vick, Byah Doxey, Virginia Lanam, and Kaki Bartholomees.



Through these doors go the students of Fayetteville Senior High School, who, from the early awakening of day to the aging of late afternoon, busily engage themselves in the task of acquiring an education. Seven hours a day, five days a week, they reside within these portals, where the hours are portioned out among the routine activities of every day. These students live as citizens in the active world of adolescence, sharing a laugh at a pep rally, shedding tears of sweat in the library, shivering on the concourse when the smoking patio is rained out, or struggling to stay awake during the afternoon. It is the sound of their feet that stampede down the corridors between classes; of their hands clapping to the music of the band; of their voices singing, talking, and whispering throughout the day. They are the surging flow of energy which circulates throughout the halls forming the pulsating heartbeat of our school. They are the student body—a mixture of anxious, bewildered, spanking-brand-new sophomores; happy, carefree, middle-of-the-road juniors; worldly, responsible, confident seniors—all united into one common self by living and working together day by day, closely assorted in the private, wonderful world of our . . .

A loud voice rings through the gymnasium, "Homeroom 12-8." With this announcement, forty seniors burst into the gym, pulling a wagon which bears the queen Cleopatra, decked in purple and jewels and long hair—a mop by origin. She is none other than the honored homeroom teacher Mrs. McCormick. This scene is typical of the convention held each spring for the nomination of the Student Council members.

The nomination convention launches the final week of vigorous campaigning complete with posters, speeches, and skits by the candidates. Student Council and Forum

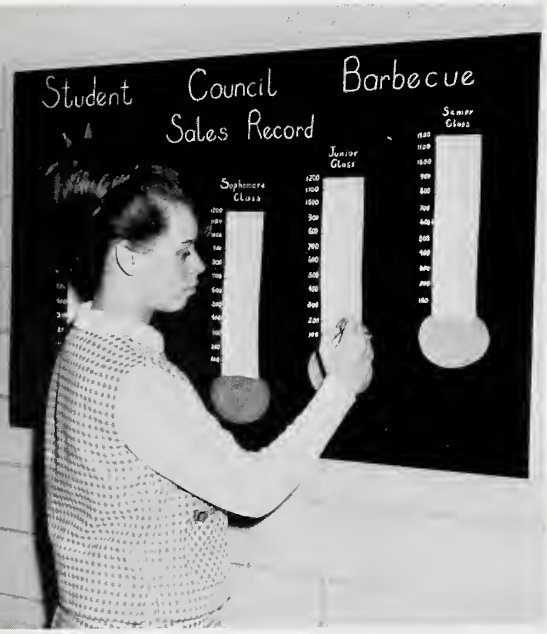
Homecoming flowers sold by the student forum add that extra touch for two students, Jim Davies and Nancy Waple.

Honking horns and gaily decorated cars representing the students and clubs at Senior High fill the streets during the homecoming cavalcade. Corsages of white chrysanthemums go on sale, and voting for homecoming queen takes place. Who's behind it all? The Student Council and Forum, of course. Devoting much time and spirit, the members work for a successful homecoming.

Another annual project of the Student Forum is the production of the Buzz Book, which features the students' phone numbers and addresses.

In December, the Student Council sponsors a barbecue. Money earned from this barbecue is used by the council for the handbook given to each member of the student body and for the Student Council Scholarship. Contests are held each day of sales between the classes for high and low sales. As a punishment, officers of the low-selling class have to sit in the stocks during their break. Because the goal of 1300 tickets was surpassed by 300 tickets, Mr. Sasser and Mr. Warren also had to undergo the punishment.

As a final project, the talent show is sponsored by the Student Council in the spring to give talented students a chance to display their abilities.



Marlene Nollenberger records the barbecue sales for each class.

National

Tony Canupp bestows to Greg Bullock the honor of wearing the emblem of the National Honor Society.

"Why do the teachers always win a cake?" This quotation is commonly heard during one of the cakewalks sponsored twice yearly by the National Honor Society. During the lunch periods, students are given a chance to try their luck for a cake donated by individual Honor Society members. Money earned from the cakewalk helps to finance the Honor Society Scholarship and the books donated each year by the club to the library.

One of the greatest honors at Senior High is to become a member of the National Honor Society. The Fayetteville Senior High Chapter of the National Honor Society was formed in 1953 and named for Thomas M. Hunter. Objectives of the club are to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to encourage character development. Members are selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character. A scholastic average of 92 is required of new members who are inducted each fall and spring from the junior and senior classes.

To the sounds of popular songs, students take part in the cakewalk.

Initiative"

The motto "We build," aptly applies to the Key Club of Fayetteville Senior High. One of the most respected service clubs in the area, the Key Club prepares its members as builders of the future. As an extension of the International Kiwanis Club, the members can be recognized by their pin which bears the distinguished "K."

The members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, character, ability, and leadership. On initiation day, the halls resound with the laughter of the student body as they observe the comical antics of the new members. The large wooden key, which new members must have signed by each boy in the club, could probably be counted among a Key Clubber's most treasured possessions.

The Key Club participates in many projects throughout the year. They sell football programs each fall and broadcast their own radio program, Hi-Topics, each Saturday morning. This year their annual play was a hilarious spoof on T.V. Spring is marked by a carwash and a dance—both sponsored by the Key Club. The club also presented Career Day; a program where representatives of different vocations are available to talk to the students. This year the club donated a significant sum to the Cumberland County Shelter Workshop which helps the mentally retarded. Through these services, the Key Club has proved to be a valuable asset to school and community.

What is the Hi-Y?

It is a service club, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. that stimulates the growth of Christian character throughout the school, community, and world. With emphasis on scholarship, clean living, clean speech, and clean sportsmanship, the Hi-Y molds the young man into a capable adult.

The Hi-Y helps in such fund-raising campaigns as the March of Dimes and the Heart Fund. This year they assisted the Chamber of Commerce in the Fayetteville Air Show. The help of the Hi-Y in directing parking at the school is greatly appreciated by all. One of the most popular projects is their annual Hi-Y—Faculty Basketball Game. During this game, the entire student body is entertained by the teachers and students who pound up and down the basketball court. For initiation, the new members must be cheerleaders for both the Powderpuff Football Game and the Hi-Y-Faculty Basketball Game. The club broadcasts a Sunday afternoon radio program and donates to the Y.M.C.A. World Service program, which is their greatest contribution to the spreading of Christian influence throughout the world. This was also the first year that the club sponsored a dance of their own. With the construction of the new Y.M.C.A. building this year, the club is provided with a permanent club room.

Through invaluable assistance in various projects, the Hi-Y has helped to develop the strong Christian character which is so needed in the world of today.

The Hi-Y carries on an informal discussion during its weekly meeting.

The new members apprehensively enter the room and are met with a shower of initiation rituals—the new year for the Tri-Hi-Y has begun.

The purpose of the Tri-Hi-Y, which is a girls' service club, is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character. Although the club works and meets as a unit, it is divided into three groups according to classes with each group having its own vice-president and secretary.

The club members help to raise money for the Heart Fund and the Cystic Fibrosis Drive. They also contribute to the World Service program, which helps to establish Y.M.C.A. programs throughout the world. The entire student body enjoys the annual Tri-Hi-Y Powderpuff Football Game, the proceeds of which go to charity. During Christmas and Thanksgiving, the club sends a basket of food, clothing, and toys to some needy family.

The development of character in the members of the Tri-Hi-Y provides modern society with young women who prove to be a valuable asset.

14 in a rush against time to meet deadlines. The advice of the sponsor, Miss Moore, and the leadership of the editor, Carol Ann McHaney, largely determine the Lafamac's success in portraying a year at F.H.S.

One of the new features of the 1965 Lafamac is the increased number of colored pictures. The new Student Life section attempts to picture students in all phases of school life. This section emphasizes the individual, and also pictures the vast network of social, educational, and athletic activities in which students participate as a common unit.

Band Activities

The stamping feet, beating drums, and blasting trumpets of the marching band are part of the spirit of pep rallies, football games, and parades. The more select concert band performs for assembly programs, a spring concert, awards night, and commencement exercises, and maintains a high rating at the state contest. The jazz of the pep band lifts the spirits of spectators at basketball games.

This year the Band Parents' Club and the band members sold birthday calendars to replenish the uniform fund. They sold candy to finance out-of-town trips. A Christmas dance, given by the Band Parents' Club, was a reward for the work and time of the band members.

Majorettes Diane Hayes, Penny Langston, Carolyn Burt, Patsy McIntosh, Natalie Guy, Linda Hall, Michelle Wysocki, and Linda Taylor practice after school.

Raising one's voice in song has become so popular at Fayetteville High School that the vocal music program is divided into the Senior High Singers, the more select performing group, and the Mixed Chorus. This year the Senior High Singers performed at civic club luncheons, the state contest, and the Senior Sermon. They joined the Mixed Chorus in presenting the inspiring and entertaining Christmas assembly.

— Art Club —

The Art Club is in its second year of organization with an enrollment of 36 students. The main requirement of membership is that a member be interested in all the Arts.

The purpose of the Art Club is to provide various programs in the fields of Art, Dance, and the Theater. These give an opportunity for the further development of appreciation.

An interesting report on the John F. Kennedy Cultural Center was given to the members early in the year. The most memorable lecture was a report and slides of Art in Viet Nam, given by a Captain in the U.S. Army that was stationed there.

Art Department

Art is a way of life. It is the artist's means of expressing his inner-most emotions. The art department of F.H.S. strives to perfect this feeling in a meaningful manner. Six periods daily are offered in Art I, Art II, and Art III. In addition to the regular requirements, there is a planned program to which there is enthusiastic response. The lists of activities are many and varied; they prove interesting to the students while developing their creative abilities.

Students participate in North Carolina's Regional National Scholastic Art Awards Exhibition and make a trip to the exhibition held on Woman's College Campus. There is also an annual visit to the State Fair and Art Museum. Work is also exhibited in the P.T.A. Arts Festival Program held at Fayetteville Senior High each spring.

"Toward new horizons" expresses the attitude of the girls in the Future Homemakers' Club. With this as its motto, the club aims to promote appreciation in the joys of home membership, to encourage democracy in home and community life, and to further interest in the field of homemaking.

Any girl interested in home economics is eligible to join the F.H.A. Club. In the fall, the club members held a candy sale. Later in the year they carried canned goods to the Confederate Ladies' Home.

The Future Nurses Club was organized in 1954 by the Women's Auxiliary of the American Medical Association. Membership is on a volunteer basis. At the meetings, the members listen to visiting speakers and often see films which acquaint them with nursing.

This year, the F.N.A. was privileged to have a recruiting officer from Fort Bragg speak at one of the meetings. She suggested to the members a military career in nursing and showed a film on that subject. The Future Nurses held a cake sale which brought returns to pay for the Miss F.H.S. contestants sponsored by the F.N.A. The most exciting part of the year was receiving pins.

Promoting an interest in teaching and familiarizing members with all phases of the profession are the purposes of the Future Teachers' Club. It aids students in deciding if they possess the qualities of a good teacher.

To attain membership in the Future Teachers' Club, a student must have a B average and be approved by the faculty. At the monthly meetings, the F.T.A. presents interesting programs concerning the teaching profession.

Every month the Future Teachers' Club presents each teacher with a small gift. In the spring, a Teacher Appreciation Day is held at which the club presents a contribution in honor of all teachers to the Mary Morrow Scholarship Fund. This donation is a result of the F.T.A.'s stationery sale and annual dance.

In October, the F.T.A. attended the state convention of the Future Teachers in Greensboro. This convention is sponsored by the National Education Association. A vigorous campaign was carried out by the F.T.A. of Fayetteville High to elect Kaki Bartholomees as state recording secretary. Congratulations to the F.T.A. for their victory!

Library Club

Officers for the Library Club are Peggy Barbee, President; Betty Massengill, Vice-President; Rhonda Barefoot, Historian; David Jones, Parliamentarian; Pat Kennedy, Treasurer.

Library assistants, who receive one-half credit for their services in the library, are also eligible for membership in the Library Club. This year the club had three meetings with programs, which included a talent show among the members, a program with three guest librarians as speakers, and an orientation program for library assistants from the junior highs.

The Library Club, which is a member of the N.C. High School Library Association, sent a group to the N.C.H.S.A. Convention in Durham on April 23-24. The major money-making project of selling paperback books provided a convenient, inexpensive way for students to buy books. The club's services also included a coke party for teachers in the spring and a gift for the faculty.

Scottish Dancers

Gay plaid skirts swirl, and feet clad in ghillies beat a lively rhythm as the Scottish Dancers perform to the tune of the plaintive bagpipe. A long respected tradition at Fayetteville Senior High School, this club exemplifies the rich heritage which has been passed down from the Scots who first settled this area.

Chosen on the basis of ability in Highland dancing, scholarship, and character, the twenty-four members begin a full year of activity with spring tryouts. Each Thursday at club meetings, feet pound on the second floor as they practice their strenuous dances—the intricate Sword Dance, the universal Highland Fling, and the graceful Fancy.

The club performs at many civic and social functions, such as parades and club meetings. In October their skirts swing as the bagpipe plays for their performance at the North Carolina State Fair. They attend competitions at Charlotte in January and at the world-famous "gathering of the clans" at Grandfather's Mountain in July. During Homecoming, the Scottish Dancers perform in honor of the new queen.

This year the club has revived an old practice—that of selling shakers at football games. This helped to finance the club's various trips and their successful Sadie Hawkins' Dance.

The Scottish Dancers are indeed a club to be proud of. Through hard work and fun they have helped to keep the Scottish tradition alive.

Latin is the language of scholars and classical history. It is also the language of present day students groping into the endless well of knowledge trying to grasp one little piece of eternity. Cheerleaders

Head Cheerleader: Beverly Giles

". . . All for the Bulldogs, stand up and holler!" Time and time again these spirited words rang out in a roar from enthusiastic students led by the eleven varsity cheerleaders. But being a cheerleader was more than leading cheers at games and pep rallies, as these girls soon discovered.

The cheerleaders were chosen in the spring on the basis of pep, agility, and character. Then the work began. In the summer they met to decide on the new uniforms and to paint signs and banners. Two weeks before school started, they were hard at work practicing old cheers and working out motions for new ones. After school began, they practiced each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. The home-coming bonfire was a success due to the efforts of the cheerleaders. Their clever skits at weekly pep rallies showed the "Bulldog" victorious over his foe, and they did much to promote enthusiasm for the Friday night games. Basketball season, too, was a time of hard work for the cheerleaders. They attended the intown and out of town games on Tuesday and Friday nights and cheered for the Bulldog cagers.

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!" This thought was utmost in the cheerleaders' minds, as they, with the student body, cheered our teams to "We're on top!"

Twenty pair of saddle shoes lead the home-coming bunny hop.

Victory! Victory!

For a group of 15 and 16 year old Sophomores, the Junior Varsity Basketball Team showed good height, speed, coordination, spirit, and endurance. This year's JV team will undoubtedly produce a good bench and possibly a couple of starters on next year's varsity team.

Rusty controls the tip-off in the second half, leading the Bulldog cagers on to rout the Enloe Eagles by 30 points.

This year's varsity basketball team compiled the est record in Fayetteville's annals. With two 6'4" for- ards, a 6'11" center, and two exceptionally fast guards, ıe team had a height and team balance advantage ver every team in its league. On any given night, Fayette- ille High's cagers could out rebound and out shoot any -A team in North Carolina. 1965 saw the team achieve hat no other team from Fayetteville has ever done: ıke the Eastern 4-A Conference title. The final record or all regular season games was a sparkling 19 wins and heart-breaking loss to the Durham Bulldogs. As the cores of the first six non-conference games came in, the sports writers raised their brows and took note of the team's potential. As the conference standings began to jell, Fayetteville had already compiled a perfect 13-0 standing. The Bulldogs bounced back after the loss to Durham with a 51 point rout over Wilson. Riding high with a full head of steam, the Basketball Bulldogs went on to take the title to represent the conference in the state play-offs. Once the team got to Greensboro they let their presence be known. Doing what Fayetteville has never done in 50 years, the 1965 Basketball team swept the State playoffs undefeated to win the State Championship title.

It only happened once in the history of high school basketball.

Eddie Martin gets fouled and . . . shoots his foul shot which stays on the rim. Rusty jumps and stuffs it in.

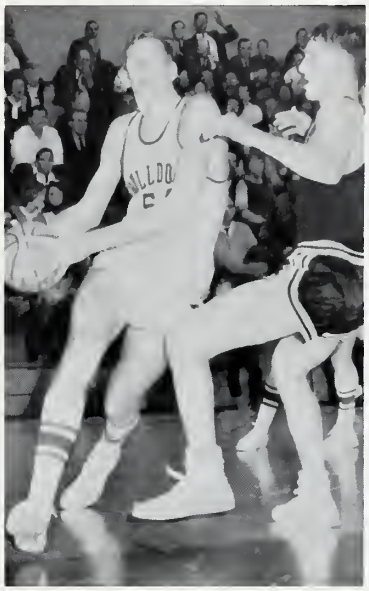
A hot, tired, and weary bench watches a fast break in the final seconds of a game against Wilmington.

Go Rusty . . .

In one of his many brilliant plays, Rusty Clark shows his worth as the tallest player in North Carolina.

Rusty fakes with a stare nd steals the ball.

Looking the forecourt over, he plans his move.



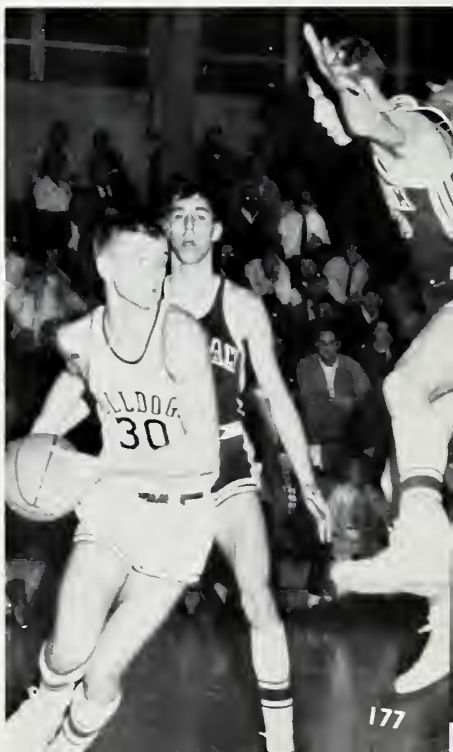
In a fast break, Rusty catches a defender off guard . . .

. . . and drives in for a lay-up on a 3-on-1 situation.

Bruce Moore pops up a jump shot for two points.

Jim Perkins ties the score with a 3 point play against Durham.

"Steady" Eddie darts around an airborn defense.



"Bones" Williford steals the ball from 22.

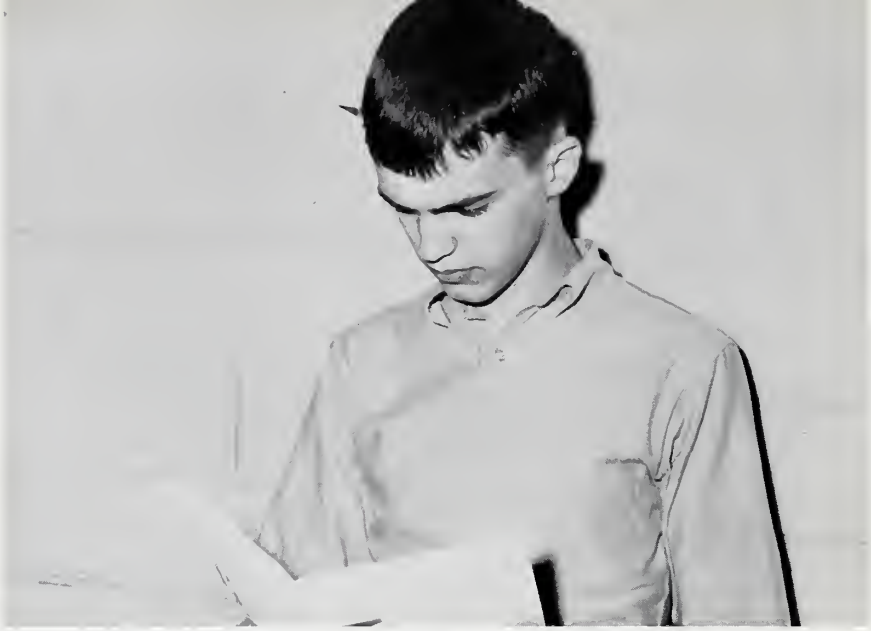
Mrs. Livermore gives advice concerning colleges to Tommy Cottingham, Leigh Brooks, Jimmy Barnes, and Rita Baucom.

Seniors



Perspiring palms, knocking knees, butterfly stomachs—these are the symptoms of "College Board-itis." Several Saturdays each year, this epidemic strikes F.H.S. as seniors gather to take their tests which are used as a basis for acceptance by most colleges. Tim Peppe ponders the results of his SAT.

"All right Madge, if you must have it, I'll give you this Stewart Olds Convertible for graduation."

Well, another year passes. Come June the second and we will all go our separate ways. We've raised a bunch of hell, and had an all around great time. Maybe We will see each other at M.C. next year. Just remember to raise hell and Baseball and play plenty of Putt-Putt this summer.

Don've been friends a long time huh? Since the fifth grade!! It seems like only yesterday and yet so much has happened in both of our lives as we grown up together. Truly, you've become a wonderful man, Alan, and while we've been just friends I feel my life is richer for having known you; laughed with you; and cried too.
I feel now, you're probably one of the happiest boys alive, and how glad I am for you!!!! Please don't ever part with that smile & friendly hand — now that which makes you that way. You have so very much to offer life & I believe life will ~~will~~ repay you generously.

Alan,

you know we have been friends of a long long time. Since kindergarden and that is a very long time. Now we are almost through ; we will go our separate ways. Alan I hope we won't forget each other, and will be able to get together after school. Sarah is a wonderful girl ; I wish you all the luck in the world but there is a secret I have had all these years and I have never told anyone but you. Sarah I will tell you now. Alan I was secretly in love with you in kindergarden and in the first grade. I hope you, Sarah, Ted ; I can get together in the summer!!

Good luck ;

May God Bless you.

Alan,

There is so much I want to say but I'm sure you know what it is. As I think back on all the wonderful times we've had together I can hardly believe them. It seems like only yesterday that I was dating you for the first time. Remember all of the places we went that night? That lady that sat in front of us at the show and ate her own pop corn out of a bag, and the girl beside her that couldn't read? I was so nervous that night, could you tell???

Honey, there are so many things I could say. Remember the night that the car door flew open? Guess that taught me not to sit close to the door, huh!? And the night the tide came in at the beach, too bad the car couldn't swim. And the night before, took us long enough to get there didn't it???? That was a very wonderful weekend, one I'll never forget. There are so many wonderful memories that I could mention but there is not enough time nor space.

The next 16 months are going to be hard for both of us. But darling, as much as we love each other I'm sure we can make it. I only pray that I can make you happy throughout our lives. Marriage is a very wonderful and sacred thing and I hope ours will always remain that way. I can hardly wait until the day when I will become "Mrs. Alan Broadwell". That will be the happiest day of my life, one I shall never forget.

I can always tell our children that you turned me down when I asked you to marry me! It sounds even better when I say that you asked me to marry ~~me~~ you at Hicks!!

All my love forever,
Sarah

Alan
Can you believe we finally made it!? I'll never forget all the fun we had together in "Tom Jones". It was an experience I'll never forget - and the cast party - well - that was fun too!! Alan - I want to be one of many to wish you well - that the best of everything life and Sarah all can offer. Keep in touch -
Love ya
Pat Yarbrough

Alan -
This year has been a ball - especially Glee Club. Typing has been fun, too, hasn't it?
You've a wonderful person, Alan. Our little talk a long time ago helped us both a little, didn't it.
I wish you & Sarah the best of luck in future years.
Blessings,
Gary 5-7-65

Alan,
I'm so glad there's still room left for me to sign! It's been a fun year & you certainly added to it! Have fun, stay cool, and study hard next year at college! Best Wishes Always to a real neat guy!
Tom '65

Alan,

Well, you and Sarah are following in my footsteps. I hope you two will be as happy as Buck and I are. As long as we have love and Christ are another to have will be living in Heaven. We are very lucky to have Alan you are a girl as good as the world and Alan, she is so lucky to have you. I wish both of you the best of luck always. And Alan you will get just as wonderful as you now and you just think in a few more weeks we will be graduates. I can't believe it. Oh, well, I think we have a lot to look forward to. I don't guess I will see you much until my wedding! And if you and Sarah don't come, I'll get you! Be good and May God Bless you forever!

Love ya

Alan - a true friend

We have truly had some great times in the years we've known each other — especially last year's prom. These memories will always have a special place in my heart. In the years to come I hope we'll see a lot of each other - it's such a shame to forget a friendship like ours. Best of luck to you and Sarah - perhaps Roger and I will be having our second little one by '66. I'm serious! May love, laughter, tolerance, and hope be ever with you, Alan. God bless —
